Whether from the one or the other depends on whether he is seen through the eyes of the scientist or those of the metaphysician. Through the eyes of the scientist, he is seen as a product - the product of a plan that has been working through the ages. For all evidence goes to show that after our planet came into existence as such, millions of years passed before it could support even the lowest forms of life. And after these appeared, many other millions elapsed before man was reached by Nature in working out her increasing purpose. So viewed as the culminating product of ages of unceasing effort by the forces of creation, man is truly great. Viewed from the standpoint of metaphysics, man is pre-eminently the greatest of God s creatures. He is great in his conceptions and great in his executions. Ranked with other living beings, his...
